Coutts awarded contract by Université de la Sorbonne Nouvelle Paris III

PARIS, FRANCE – The prestigious Université de la Sorbonne Nouvelle (Paris III) has awarded Coutts Information Services sole supplier status for the provision of English language reference books to the University's main library as well as to the associated libraries Sainte Geneviève and Sainte Barbe.

"Coutts' offer really appealed and our first contact was excellent and confirmed our positive impression. Coutts reacted quickly to our first requests and we appreciate their experience of working with libraries. We are now looking forward to placing our first orders," says Myriam Grenier, Conservateur at the University.

Coutts is currently opening La Sorbonne Nouvelle's new accounts with the Ringwood branch, and orders for printed books in English are on their way.

"We are pleased and very excited to serve the Université de la Sorbonne Nouvelle," said Andy Alferovs, Vice President of Global Sales for Coutts. "We provide the best in quality services to our customers and we thrive on enabling them to serve their own customers with the best in product and efficiency."

As a member of the Couperin consortium, La Sorbonne Nouvelle is also able to take advantage of Coutts' offer for the provision of e-books via the market leading MyiLibrary platform, currently containing over 150,000 titles.

La Sorbonne Nouvelle, historically issued from the 13th century Sorbonne University, now welcomes an average 20,000 students every year on 130 courses, including the English-language syllabus of the Capes-Agregation, a very sought-after civil service qualification for positions in the French public education system.
